

Discovery is around every corner.

PHS Meadowbrook Farm is a 21-acre property with 7 acres cultivated, bequeathed to The Pennsylvania Horticultural Society in 2004 by J. Liddon Pennock, Jr.

Meadowbrook visitors can enjoy a variety of formal and informal gardens throughout the grounds, some featuring artistic pieces for peaceful enjoyment. The charming “garden rooms” on the grounds include: a display garden, pollinator garden, xeric gardens, cacti and succulent garden, rain garden, rock garden, and a walled garden.

The Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, a non-profit organization, is America’s leading horticultural society founded in 1827. Today, PHS includes a diverse community of people who use horticulture to advance the greater good with a keen focus on creating healthier living environments, increasing access to fresh food, expanding economic opportunity, and fostering meaningful social connections. Everyone is invited to support these efforts by becoming a PHS member, volunteer, gardener, or donor. To get involved, please scan the QR code on the right or visit PHSonline.org.
