Photography: Capturing Late Summer Color
September 7, 5 – 7 pm
Enjoy an introduction to garden photography with optimal light and without other visitors. Following a brief presentation of the basics, Chanticleer Horticulturist and photographer Lisa Roper will lead the group into the garden to put these principles into practice. This class is open to all who have a digital, single-lens reflex camera and have a working knowledge of manual or aperture settings. The class takes place in available light, so a tripod may be desired.
Fee: $20 Members; $30 Non-Members.

Ecological Gardening
Thursday, September 21, 5 – 7 pm
Discover the garden as an ecosystem and improve your knowledge of how to emulate nature in a managed garden. Chanticleer Horticulturist Joe Henderson will lead a walk and demonstration on how to incorporate what is observed in nature into a designed area. Joe will review plant selection and placement, gardening techniques, and management that lead to a successful, naturalistic planting.
Fee: $20 Members; $30 Non-Members.

Arranging from the Garden
Saturday, September 30, 9 – 11:30 am
Learn how to create flower arrangements from the garden, without diminishing the overall planting design. We will review how to select and harvest flowers, how to establish a garden that provides abundant stems for cutting, and what to consider when composing an elegant arrangement. You will create an arrangement to take home. Please bring clippers, gloves, a vase or container to work in, and wear comfortable clothes.
Fee: $30 Members; $40 Non-Members.

Gardening for the Birds
Saturday, October 7, 9 – 11:30 am
Join Assistant Horticulturist Lowery Douglass for this walk and talk on attracting wildlife and birds to your backyard or garden. Explore some of the hotspots for birds at Chanticleer. Lowery will point out bird habitat, preferences, and signs that specific bird species are visiting your yard. This class will review plant selections, gardening practices, and a checklist of fall cleanup tasks that aim to improve your garden as a wildlife habitat.
Fee: $20 Members; $30 Non-Members.
Seasonal Branches, Holiday Table Arrangements and Evergreen Containers
Saturday, Nov 18, 9 – 11:30 am

Exhibit: Two Herbals: Picturing Nature from the Middle Ages to the Renaissance
Monday, October 2 – Tuesday, December 5, 2017
Viewing hours: 9:30 am – 5 pm, Monday – Friday
This year marks the 500th anniversary of the 1517 edition of Hortus Sanitatis, a late medieval compendium with over 1,000 charming and sometimes enigmatic woodcuts of plants, animals, and birds as well as mythical creatures – dragons, harpies, hydas, and mermen. Just 25 years later, Leonhart Fuchs published his landmark work De Historia Stirpium, 1542. A masterpiece of the German Renaissance, this herbal has over 500 illustrations including 100 plants new to Europe, drawn and printed with precision and accuracy. This exhibit lets viewers compare and contrast two remarkably different ways in which the natural world was depicted and described five centuries ago.

Free.

Rare Book Talk on Two Herbals: Picturing Nature from the Middle Ages to the Renaissance
Thursday, December 7, 3 – 4 pm
